DESTINATION: EUROPE

A SCHOLARSHIP CHALLENGE TO ENHANCE STUDENT TRAVEL

Can you handle the scholarship challenge?

The Travel Enhancement Scholarship Challenge is for committed students who are dedicated to exploring the cultural face of Europe.

Are you eligible to attempt the scholarship challenge?

The scholarship challenge is open to upper-level undergraduate (i.e. third-year and above) and graduate students at the College of Design.

How are the awards made?

Interested students should review the scholarship challenge and submit a Proposal Application to the College of Design Scholarship Committee. The Travel Enhancement Scholarship will be awarded only to students whose Proposal Application demonstrates a rigorous commitment and intention to meeting the challenge.

Travel Enhancement Awards will be made according to the spending distribution income generated from the endowed Travel Enhancement Fund in the College of Design. Students who are already enrolled in a travel program in Europe may receive a supplemental award to offset the additional travel required to meet the challenge. Students who are interested in a stand-alone cultural quest may receive a more substantial award to get them to Europe and get them started.

What are the requirements of the award?

Students receiving the award will visit various significant cultural and design-relevant sites in several cities—some required in the scholarship challenge and some identified in the student's Proposal Application. Within one month of completion of the trip, the student must submit a written and pictorial documentary report of the experience to the Dean of the College of Design. The documentary reports of all students who take the challenge will be archived in the College of Design Library.

To what can I apply the scholarship award funds?

The scholarship awards are not intended to cover the entire cost of travel but instead offset a recipient's travel expenses and enhance his or her education abroad experience. Scholarship awards may be used by the recipient solely for the required travel. Scholarship award funds cannot be used for cancellations or other like fees.
