

Andrew J. Manson, Assistant Professor, School of Architecture, University of Kentucky

Education:

M.A., M.Phil., Ph.D., Architectural History, Columbia University

M.A., Classics, University College London

B.A. (Hons), Classical Studies, Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario

Selected Research:

"Romanitas, Rationalism and the Palace of the Lictors" (American Association for Italian Studies Annual Conference, Eugene, Oregon, 2013)

Review of "Pride in Modesty: Modernist Architecture and the Vernacular Tradition in Italy" by Michelangelo Sabatino. Traditional Dwellings and Settlements Review 23, no. 1 (2011): 72-73

"Adversarial Aesthetics? Tradition, Innovation, and the Palazzo del Littorio Competition." (Emerging Scholars Symposium: Is Returning to the Past Modern? Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, 2011)

"The Modern Architecture of Twenty Centuries Ago: Giuseppe Pagano and the Ruins of Ostia Antica" (Canadian Centre for Architecture, 2008)

"The Latin Roots of Modern Architecture" (Clarence Ward Lecture Series, Oberlin College, 2008)

"Eero Saarinen and the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial" (Collins/Kaufmann Forum, Columbia University, 2007)

Courses Taught

ARC 213 History and Theory II: 18th -19th Centuries

ARC 314 History and Theory III: 20th Century and Contemporary Architecture

ARC 315 History and Theory IV: World Architecture and Urbanism

ARC 512 History and Theory Seminar: Modern Architecture in Italy

ARC 514 History and Theory Seminar: Ruins. A Fragmentary Introduction

Selected Fellowships and Awards

Teacher of the Year Award, University of Kentucky College of Design, 2009-10

Canadian Centre for Architecture Collection Research Grant, 2008

Rosann S. Berry Annual Meeting Fellowship, Society of Architectural Historians, 2008

Mellon Dissertation Fellowship, Council on Library and Information Resources, 2006

C.V. Starr Foundation Fellowship, Columbia University, 2005

Rome Award, British School at Rome, British Academy, 2004